

We're looking for an Electrical Lead Hand!

Work as a lead alongside electrical assemblers to ensure the day-to-day operation specifications, schedules, and safety procedures are followed.

Department:

Production Plant A

Reports to:

Production Supervisor

Responsibilities

- Work with the crew to complete electrical projects on time and within quality standards
- Interpret and apply applicable standards IE, UL and specifications
- Promote, lead, and enforce safety compliance throughout the job site
- Estimate time, materials and equipment required to complete tasks
- Plan and organize tasks and materials for work projects and activities
- Delegate tasks and responsibilities to crew members
- Supervise and train associates on the job, as required
- Prepare and submit reports and documentation as requested
- Inspect jobs upon completion and ensure areas are clean
- Report any safety and quality issues to management
- Other related duties as assigned

Qualifications and Skills

- 5+ years of electrical experience and 1+ years of experience in supervisory role
- Post-secondary related education is a plus
- Experience with manufacturing management software considered an asset
- Understand OHSA plus safety regulations and lead by example
- Great organizational and time management skills to lead, schedule and coordinate a team to complete multiple tasks
- Outstanding people and communication skills to inspire and motivate their team to meet all company goals
- Able to supervise others' work and coach for performance
- Good problem-solving, equipment maintenance and assembling skills

- Able to work in a busy work environment, under high pressure and able to meet strict deadlines
- Attention to detail with a well-rounded work ethic and positive attitude
- Able to work and communicate effectively with cross-functional team members

Working Environment

- Work performed primarily between the desk/office environment and manufacturing operations floor with elements such as noise and dust.
- Must be able to sit or stand for an entire 8-hour shift.

Apply online at www.sheridanseating.com/careers